

What are the different methods of improving Air Quality ?

There are various methods for air purification like use of different filter media & purification equipment like Negative ion generator, Electrostatically charged filter media & Activated carbon filter media which play a key role in removing strong odours.